

Acceptance and Tolerance (1)

We treat acceptance and tolerance as synonyms, however, the words are not the same,

Tolerance is to respect somebody's opinion, beliefs and likes, that are different from ours,

Acceptance is appreciations, approval and agreeing with something that we cannot change,

What we tolerate does not mean that we accept,

Acceptance means agreeing to something, tolerance - not. We can tolerate the existence of some evil but we don't accept it,

(2)

Examples: Respect is needed to everybody no matter what age, sex, colour of skin or degree of physical ability.

We can't tolerate lies, aggression, breaking of law, All the social behaviour should not be tolerated,

Pedifiles especially should not be tolerated,

Open intolerance happens everywhere, It concerns the colour of your skin, overweight disability or the style of dressing

The variety should be appreciated and accepted

but not tolerated,

③

without considering the colours of skin, sex, religious orientation and other factors.

We should treat it as a reason for joy not a way of hurting each other.